

Jason Armstrong

Armstrong Consulting
CEO

Chief Jason Armstrong is a distinguished law enforcement leader with extensive experience in community outreach, police reform, and organizational leadership. Retiring as Chief of Police in Apex, North Carolina, Chief Armstrong has built a reputation as one of the nation's foremost experts in fostering community trust and implementing effective police reform. He highlighted his experiences in his #1 best-selling memoir, "I'm Done Here!: Create Lasting Impact by Leading with Intentionality."

Before his tenure in Apex, Chief Armstrong served as the Chief of Police in Ferguson, Missouri, where he led the department through transformative reform efforts to ensure constitutional policing. His leadership in Ferguson is widely recognized for its impact on rebuilding community relationships and establishing sustainable reform. Additionally, he served as the Interim Chief of Police in Forest Park, Georgia, where he demonstrated his commitment to bridge-building and strengthening community partnerships.

Chief Armstrong is a sought-after consultant and speaker on leadership, media relations, police reform, and community engagement. His insights and expertise are regularly featured in local and national media outlets, and he has contributed to numerous professional forums through guest lectures, keynote speaking, training, and consulting.

Topic: "Crisis Leadership – Navigating High-Stakes Situations with Composure, Clarity & Integrity"